This Water Jet-cutting business offers versatile waterjet cutting services, catering primarily to architects, builders, tilers and other manufacturing professionals. Its state-of-the-art equipment cuts a wide range of materials, including metals such as aluminium, brass, copper, stainless steel and titanium and non-metals such as plastics, rubber, fibre cement sheets, marble, granite, porcelain, sandstone and ceramic tiles.

The business has been in operation for over 20 years and enjoys repeat business from scores of clients. Whilst the business is already successful, there is enormous scope for a new owner to grow the business and capitalise on the clients base and reputation the owners have built in over 20 years of trade.

No trade qualifications are necessary to operate the jet cutting machines and training will be provided.
