Aussie Native Food Sensation - EBS

Ever thought about adding a dash of Aussie flavor to your existing food brand? We've got just the opportunity for you.

This well-established on trend native food brand is already making waves on supermarket shelves (think Coles and TJ Maxx!) and has a loyal following online and in the food service industry. The best part? It's a turnkey operation with outsourced manufacturing, making it a perfect fit for an existing food brand looking to expand its portfolio or a manufacturer seeking to launch their own brand.

Imagine the possibilities! You could:

Expand your product range

Tap into the growing demand for unique and sustainable native ingredients.

Seamlessly integrate this brand into your current operations and distribution channels

Boost brand recognition: Capitalize on a brand with over 20 years of history and recognition in the Australian market.

Accelerate growth: Hit the ground running with an established brand and customer base

Plus, the current owners are keen to pass the torch, making this a smooth and seamless transition.

Sound tempting? Here's what we're looking for in an ideal buyer:

An existing food brand or manufacturer looking to expand its product portfolio and tap into the growing native food market. Leverage your existing infrastructure and distribution channels to seamlessly integrate this brand and accelerate growth.

A strategic investor seeking a profitable and scalable business with a strong market presence.

Capitalize on the increasing consumer demand for unique and sustainable native food products.

An individual or group with a passion for Australian native foods and a vision for future growth. Build upon a brand with over two decades of heritage and recognition in the Australian market.
