Fitstop was born from the sheer passion, process and performance achieved when working with professional athletes.

This formulated in Fitstop's athlete-inspired approach to training that was simple, effective and continued to amass a strong community of fitness enthusiasts and so, the Fitstop difference was born.

Through humble beginnings operating the first location out of a garage to having raving fans in multiple communities, Founder and CEO Peter Hull launched Fitstop franchising in 2017 to bring this athletic-based formula to the masses.

Now, Fitstop makes their mark by impacting the "everyday athlete" and creating a genuine social impact in local communities through their mission to become the home of functional fitness, globally.

Fitstop's making waves in the fitness industry by offering a performance-driven approach to training completely unique to Fitstop with the backing of game-changing technology.
